ABOUT THE CONCERT

Who can forget, "See the USA in your Chevrolet"? Or maybe you recall, "It's de-lightful, it's de-lovely, it's Desoto"? The American culture was greatly affected by the motorcar and by music in the 20th Century.

This special theatre organ concert will celebrate "Music and Motor-ing" as organist Pierre Fracalanza takes us on a sometimes humorous and always informative journey through automobile advertising and trends, car radios and musical observations of American life.

"And she'll have fun, fun, fun till her Daddy takes the T-bird away" is just one of the songs that will span generations of automotive-related music. And we'll experience vintage songs like "In My Merry Oldsmobile", used by the company for several decades of commercials.

If you like cars and music, you're sure to enjoy this show on the stage of the Warren Performing Arts Center as Pierre returns to the Grande Barton for this one-of-a-kind theatre organ concert enhanced with dazzling multimedia.

Pierre is not only a gifted theatre Organist, but a Steinway Artist - a member of a select group of exceptional pianists from around the world.

CICATOS

The primary objective of the Central Indiana Chapter and the international organization—the American Theatre Organ Society—is the preservation and maintenance of the surviving theatre pipe organs from the 1920s and '30s. This effort also promotes the use, understanding and enjoyment of these unique instruments by today's generation as well as future generations.

This objective translates into a number of international and local activities that are rewarding both culturally and educationally. Membership is open to all people who enjoy listening to or creating this wonderful music. There are activities for all interest levels, including organ building and restoration enthusiasts, performers and students of theatre pipe organ.

The Central Indiana Chapter is the second largest ATOS chapter with over 300 members. CICATOS sponsors an annual concert series, comprised of performances by outstanding national and international artists. A chapter newsletter, CIPHERS, is published monthly. Monthly meetings are held in various organ-equipped locations in central Indiana. These meetings consist of a short business session, a concert by a member or a visiting artist, "open console" where members and guests are welcome to play the organ, plenty of refreshments and opportunity to socialize. For more information about CICATOS visit cicatos.org.

The American Theatre Organ Society is chartered in California, having been founded there in 1955. It now comprises more than 4,000 members in 60 chapters throughout the world. ATOS publishes a bionthly journal, Theatre Organ, and stages five-day annual conventions in early summer and occasional three-day regional conventions in the fall.

Please consider joining if you like popular music and want to help preserve a beautiful musical heritage—the theatre pipe organ! For more information visit www.atos.org.

CICATOS is a nonprofit organization chartered under the laws of the State of Indiana and approved for tax-exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service.
